

SUMMARY OF ST. LOUIS MARKETS.

There was good buying at the opening of the local market, and through the first hour of the session, based on steady foreign quotations, a fair cash demand and comparatively light local and primary receipts. When the visible supplies of wheat and corn were posted it was learned that the decrease in the visible supplies of wheat and corn was smaller than had been predicted. Late spot buying was in moderate amounts than at the outset, and a great deal of long stuff was thrown into the pit. Short selling followed and the tone of the market was completely changed. Liquidation continued until the close, which was nearly a cent below Saturday's final quotations.

Corn had several good bull features. From many sections came reports that farmers were holding their stocks, but there was no corresponding outside demand, and the cash interest was not well maintained. Predictions of warmer weather had a depressing effect on all grades.

May wheat opened ½¢ off and closed 10 ½¢ off, July opened 1 ½¢ off and closed 10 ½¢ off.

May corn opened unchanged and closed ½¢ off. July opened 1 ½¢ up and closed 1 ½¢ off.

Produce was in good supply and prices were about steady for average receipts of fruits and vegetables.

Local securities were again under selling pressure. Trusts and trust company stocks were on the downturn. Yesterday's bank clearings were $8,744,397; balance, $89,741. Discount rates were firm.

Spot cotton was 1 ½¢ higher in the local market.
